The Pepperell Sheet has as a definite aim the promotion of good will and better acquaintance in the great Pepperell family.

"NOTHING BUT MONEY?"

No duty of any organization stands ahead of the regular payment of the agreed wage to its employees. Dividend payments can be passed, creditors can be asked for an extension of time, but the payroll has first claim. The pay envelope is at the head of the line.

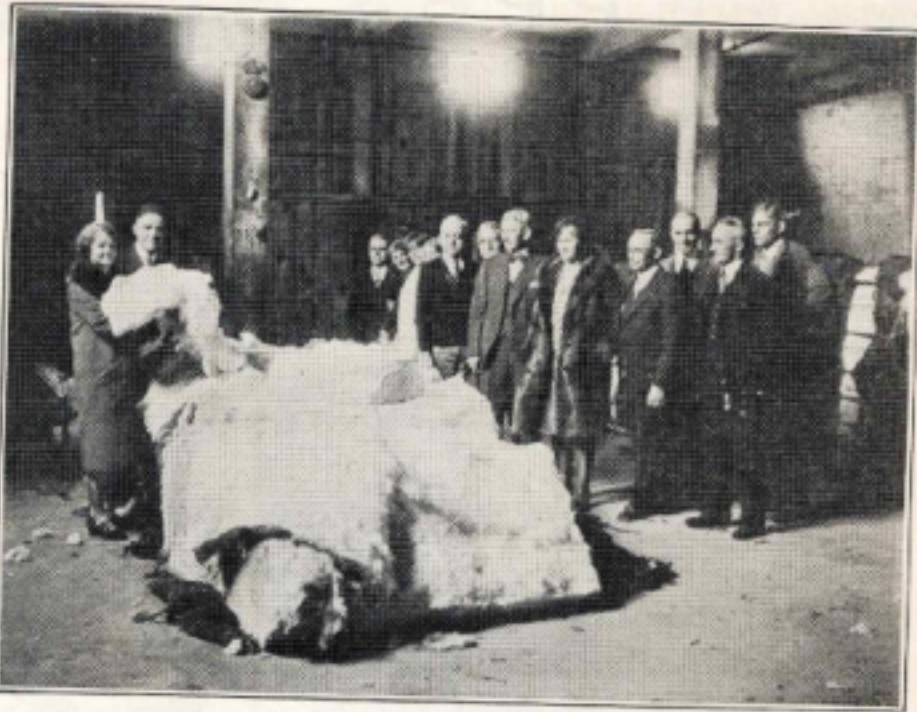

Men and women receive their envelopes, count their money and throw away the envelope. "Nothing but money," as the cast-away on the desert island said when he discovered a box of gold. But isn't there something else? Are we able to see company good-will, cooperation and interest in our envelopes? Aren't these shown in such things as provision for the uncertain future in the form of our Group Insurance plan?

Edgar A. Guest, the well-known poet, reflects some of this spirit in the following stanzas of his poem, "The Pay Envelope":

Is it all in the envelope holding your pay?
Is that all you're working for day after day?
Are you getting no more from your toil than the gold
That little enclosure of paper will hold?
Is that all you're after; is that all you seek?
Does that close the deal at the end of the week?
If you measure your work by its value in gold
The sum of your worth by your pay shall be told;
If all that you're after each week is your pay,
You are doing your work in a short-sighted way;
For the bigger rewards it is useless to hope
If you never can see past the pay envelope.
Let's stop being mentally near-sighted, and let's look at some of the things lying beyond the current wage we are receiving. This will result in better work and better team-play, which will eventually mean MORE in the pay envelope.

THE PEPPERELL SHEET

THE OFFICIAL OPENING OF THE FALL RIVER DIVISION
The above picture was taken on the occasion of starting the first bale of cotton through the newly acquired plant of the company at Fall River, which was formerly the Granite Mills.

Mrs. Kleebe, wife of the agent at the plant, officiated at the simple ceremony, and as she tossed the first handful of cotton from the first bale into the hopper she remarked, "May we all strive to make this, the Fall River Division of the Pepperell Mfg. Co., as successful as the other divisions." This was on Nov. 12, 1929.

From left to right in the picture are Mrs. Kleebe, Mr. Acton, Mr. Hayes (night superintendent), Victoria Betley, Pauline Zyzutic and Helen Michaelwich, cardroom employees; Mr. Raynor, cloth room overseer; Mr. Hebert, spinning room overseer; Mr. Gilbert, Office Manager; Miss Michel, stenographer; Mr. Kleebe, Agent; Mr. Bassett, receiver of the Granite Mills; Mr. Derosiers, overseer cardroom, and Mr. Lake, Assistant Agent.

A TEXTILE LEADER
(Fiber and Fabric)

The development of Pepperell Mills by its aggressive and progressive treasurer, Russell Leonard, is evidence that we were not much wrong two years ago and several times since then, in proclaiming him as a real captain of the textile industry and the man most needed as a leader to pull the industry out of the hole. Mr. Leonard has again shown his broad vision in disposing of his water power and contracting with power specialists to furnish him electricity to operate his mills in Biddeford. He is operating mills to make cloth and not running a power business, and the sale of his power to the Wyman group is in line with what will come eventually and result in more and better production at reduced costs.

Wherever desirable powers are owned by textile mills, there are power interests prepared to buy and it is logical and highly practical for mills to get out of the power business and let power specialists run that end while the mills make yarns and cloth.

As we view the sale of Pepperell power, Mr. Leonard has made a most progressive move and will profit for his mills, materially. Apparently he does not carry the idea that the Wyman interests are a bunch of crooks and if Maine people would follow the Leonard idea, the state and its people would soon reap benefits now denied them by their attitude of blocking power expansion.

GLIDER BOAT WINGS AND RUDDER MADE OF
PEPPERELL FINE COUNT

Sheeting Meets Test on Uniform Strength

The Peel Glider Boat Corporation of College Point, Long Island, has developed and flown successfully the first water glider to be built in this country, using Pepperell Fine Count sheeting as covering for the wings and the rudder.

This water glider is an outgrowth of the popularity of land gliding to which Colonel Lindbergh has contributed much in the past few months. It is predicted that water gliding will soon take its place alongside land gliding.

The water glider has an all-metal hull, thus giving it exceptional strength. The wing span is 31 feet, and the glider is capable of carrying two people. It is fitted with dual controls to simplify its purpose as a training plane.

The sea glider is put underway by being towed behind a fast motor boat. The glider leaves the water at twenty-five miles an hour under normal weather conditions and attains a height of 1,000 to 1,500 feet.

Although this is not the first exploit of Pepperell fabrics in the air, it is one of the first tasks of Pepperell sheeting in such a responsible position. It is pointed out that the uniform strength of this fabric was one of the principal reasons for its selection, a necessity in wing and rudder covering to avoid accident.

BOWLING LEAGUE BANQUET GREATLY ENJOYED

The banquet held at Squando Lodge, on the Pine Point road, on the evening of June 27th, was greatly enjoyed by all in attendance. Mrs. Shields put on an excellent dinner and fine music for the occasion was provided by Joseph Martin and members of the Philharmonic orchestra.

Practically all superintendents and overseers were present as well as others about the plant. Supt. Leon E. Macomber of the white goods division presided as master of ceremonies, and throughout the banquet a congenial and happy spirit prevailed. Mr. Cox made some very pointed, and well taken, remarks in reply to some rippling free verse by the Pepperell Poet. Joe Harson exacted the admiration of all by his capacity, and even our epicurean expert, John Adams, was obliged to look on and see his hard-earned laurels as eating champion go by the board. Phil Sayer called for extra attention from the waitresses by sheer force of his personality, looks, and the large amount of "It" that he has in his nature. Maurice Goodwin forgot about the ladies and devoted his entire time to the consuming of a "very rare 4-lb. porterhouse steak."

Following the banquet the party repaired to Old Orchard where some of the more optimistic held a bowling carnival in spite of the excess of hot air that prevailed on the particular evening.

THIS MONTH'S COVER

This informal picture of Pepperell's 1930 baseball team was taken at the ball park on Saturday, July 19, just before the start of the contest with the Saco-Lowell. The team has not been beaten to date, and has played the Old Orchard Bench team, Red Men, Saco-Lowell (two games), and Kennebunkport.

Enjoy Chicken Dinner

A very delicious shore dinner was enjoyed on the evening of July 23 by fifteen of the superintendents and overseers at the newly opened chicken dinner resort on the New County road known as "The Wigwam" and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tarr of this city.

The Wigwam is located in a beautiful spot on the Saco known as Indian Point, and makes an ideal place for an eating house of this type.

Following the dinner, which was all that could be asked for, by anyone who wanted fried or roasted chicken and plenty of it, a game of baseball was played between the Peathers and the Chickens. The climax of this exciting game came when one of the Chickens got roasted by a line drive that another Chicken let fly in the direction of third base. The victim of the unfortunate mishap was Warren King, overseer of spinning on the lower division, who was struck on the wrist by a batted ball. It fractured the bone and was very painful.

Although the incident put a damper on the taste for baseball, the party returned home in good spirits and expect to make another trip to this delightful spot before the summer is over.

Those who attended were General Superintendent E. T. Saulnier, Charles McCarthy, Fred Jewel, Warren King, Joseph Harson, Elmer Burrill, Supt. Harry Smith, Ernest Clappison, Chester Roberts, William Ross, William Dunn, Philip Sayer, Walter Wentworth and John Gilbride.

FISHING PARTY.

A deep sea fishing party was held on Sunday, July 20th, by Pepperell folks and their friends. The party left Island Wharf at about 9.30 a. m. on the Goldenrod and enjoyed a beautiful sail down the Saco and out to the fishing grounds.

Although the fish had an "off" day, and were away to church in their best bibs and tuckers, a few of the stay-at-home were hauled over the side and the suspense was broken with each new arrival.

Roland Lemire of the general office spent most of the day atop the craft and enjoyed (?) the most beautiful sunburn that has been seen locally in many a moon. Frank Matley and Webb Goodwin were so busy hauling in the fish all day that they found no time for anything else. Joe Bouchard taught the boys how to sing a "catchy" lullabye that the fish cannot resist, while others in the party whistled and otherwise charmed the denizens of the deep. Arthur Guerin believed in giving the fish a complete boiled dinner on his hook, and one fish in particular came to the surface with an agonized look on his face. He rolled from one side to the other with a greenish look under his gills for a few moments and finally sank to the bottom like a piece of lead. It was plain he had choked to death on the healthy lunch that Arthur had fed him. At least that was the only explanation that Doc Gibbs, local veterinary surgeon, could offer for the strange behavior.

A fine sail around Old Orchard, a little hake fishing, and home was the remainder of the programme. The party expects to make another trip to the briny before the season is over.

Grippe Prevalent

Mr. J. Adams and Mr. A. Houston were recent victims of the summer grippe that has been so prevalent locally. Both have now returned to work, but were confined to their homes for a week with the malady.

HEARD ABOUT THE PLANT

BLANKET WEAVING

By M. ANGE VAILLANCOURT

H. Poitras was glad to get a week off recently. Says he found just time enough to press his pants!

Marie R. and Irene said that they passed a real good vacation in Sanford. They also spent a week-end visiting Sanford.

Why keep us guessing George? Why not tell us all about it if you are in love with Rose?

Corriveau is a darned good ball player—especially when his sweetie is watching him from the grandstand!

Wonder what's the matter with Juliet and Thibodeau. The moment they look at each other they smile!

When Irene B. asks for a morning off you can bet your sweet life she had a date the night before.

Bourque was down at the beach with Cecile O. He seems to be true to her as he didn't dare look our way!

What's the matter with Paradis of No. 5 mill. All the boys want to tell you that if you leave your mouth open it is a very bad sign.

Therese Landry—We all know how your sunburn is torturing you. Spread on the Unguentine gently and it will stop the pains and it will heal quicker.

Corriveau says: "My sweetie is so short that when I want a kiss she has to stand in a chair."

Ernest P. was seen on Thursday night going down Main Street at a 60 m. p. h. clip. Sh-sh—He was simply going over to see his girl.

Say, Labbee, what kind of a step were you trying to demonstrate the other day at the gate when a dog came around and almost threw you to the ground.

You ought to see Therese Landry when she's on the street with sweet Pete. Oh boy!

He's all mine!

Eva Cookson is feeling fine since her trip to Canada.

Rosaire Perreault says that he is very proud to see his name in the Sheet each month. "I must be getting popular," says Rosaire.

A week off was disastrous to Rose Camire. Her weight increased just 1-8th of a pound.

Quite a few of our Pepperell girls have spent week-ends at Biddeford Pool. Among them are Anna Dauphenin, Alphonsine Poisson, Philomene Whitten, Jeannette Laferte, Louis Poisson, Blanche Fortier, Fabiola Poisson, Lena Samson, M. A. Vaillancourt, Mr. and Mrs. Simard and daughters, Yvette, Doris and Annette of Lewiston, and Mary Goodrich and Elizabeth Morin of Auburn.

Emile Boisvert, the famous one-hand driver, is taking things easier than ever now. He is teaching his girl friend how to drive the buggy.

CARDING 11-3

Leona Jalbert has asked to be away from the mill for a month. Don't suppose she's gonna get married, do you?

We wonder if A. Tetrault found out what kind of gum was in the box. (Where did you drop your nickel in. Ha! Ha!)

Plenty of chances for Rose C. There are a lot of old bachelors working here.

Wonder what the attraction can be in the weave room at noon hours for Ruth Duncan?

Fannie B. had a heavy date for 9:30 one night recently. Wonder who the lucky guy could be.

Don't worry Rose C.—there'll be another vacation bye and bye!

We hear that Janet can swim like a fish—and Laurette like a brick!

Would advise John Sullivan to watch out or he'll get hooked by H. Sawyer.

CLOTH ROOM 19

By PEARL MURPHY.

We are wondering when we will hear Maud Beauchemin and Renee Hannah in a laughing duet. Both of these young people have melodious ripples and if we could only hear them both together we sure would appreciate it.

George Thomas refuses to let Old Sol disfigure his complexion. Hence the reason for the straw with the big brim.

Rose C. saw more in the parade than the rest of us for we were all quite sure that the men were walking on the pavement.

Esther Hunter recently celebrated her tenth wedding anniversary. Hope that we will be able to help you celebrate your golden anniversary, Esther.

We are pleased to have Stella Libby back with us again. We know that you missed us, Stella, as we did you.

Wonder why there is so much silence around Blanche and Eva's machine? Who said that girls have to talk all of the time?

Albert Harvey spent the Fourth of July in Manchester, N. H. Albert enjoyed himself immensely and reported plenty of fireworks.

Wonder why Blanch and Janet blush when a hundred and eighty yard cut is mentioned.

We all know now why Adolph Gagnon is so happy. You see Adolph is the proud father of a new little son!

We hope to have Mrs. McKenney back with us soon again. She has been out several weeks on account of illness.

The sympathy of all employees of the cloth room is extended to Mrs. Ora Malloy upon the recent death of her husband, Walter J. Malloy.

COTTON DEPARTMENT

By EDWARD CHARBONNEAU

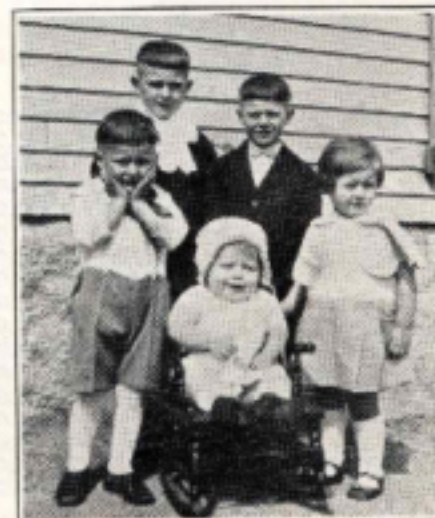

Friends and associates of James Malloy of the Cotton Department were deeply grieved to learn of the death of his son Walter at the Webber hospital, July 7.

Johnny Sullivan is assisting chef at Grace's Restaurant at Old Orchard Beach during the summer months.

All the boys report a very enjoyable vacation during the week of the Fourth.

George Lemay went to Old Orchard with a certain young lady. And we understand that he spent all his money on the merry-go-round and that he made the girl walk home. How about it, George?

Hughie says that when Columbus came over here and discovered America the first night he and the Indians stayed out all night, and the next and the next; in fact,

These fine children have a proud mamma in Mrs. Rosina Demers, who is a weaver in 83-A. They are Lucien, 7 years of age; Erre, 6; Alphonse, 4; Angella 3, and Benoit, who is only one year of age. We certainly call this a fine family of children!

The marriage of Miss Mary Anne Dutil and Mr. Ephrem Arel was solemnized on May 24th. Mr. and Mrs. Arel will make their home in Woonsocket, R. I. Mrs. Arel's sister, Lydia, and brother, Leon, are employed in Carding 11-3.

CARDING 173-174

We are sorry to see that Mrs. Rose King of Room 173 had to submit to an operation. We are hoping for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Mary Bowdoin of Room 174 met with an automobile accident, July 4, and she is confined to her home. Also hoping for a speedy recovery.

Among the new faces employed lately in this department are Miss Berthe Bastille, Mrs. Delvina Gagnon, Miss Liliane Gagne, Mrs. Emma Gagne. Glad to see you with the Pepperell force again.

Armand G. has lost his place as the sheik of 173 since Arthur Gendron is with us. Just wait till you see his picture, girls.

We would like to know when Mamie F. of 163 is going to decide and get married. Let us know ahead when the big event is coming off.

We would like to know if Buster's intentions are good. We will stage a stag party, Buster. Hurry, please.

About time that Yvonne of 18-3 should get a steady. Some of the boys would be good company, Yvonne.

A good advice is worth quite a lot sometimes. Oh? yeah!

SPINNING 18-5

By MARIANNE HOUE

Wonder how it happens that a certain young lady always sits in her car in front of Fishman's every Saturday night?

Mr. Boisser—aren't you tired of riding you bicycle every night.

Armand G. Why don't you hike up Cleaven street nowadays? Has she given you the air?

Marie D. is kind o' sad lately. What is the matter Marie?

Our roving boy is a great hand to eat doughnuts from the lunch cart. Is he trying to get fat?

And then every other evening or so we see Gendron picking his weary way up Alfred Street. My! What a hill climber!

Looks as though there is going to be a "permanent" beauty contest going on here for some little time to come. Most all of the he said that was when the "Nights of Columbus" started.

Frank Martell has gone haying for the summer and we know that he will enjoy it very much.

Joe: "When I eat bananas I can't sleep."

Jack: "With me it is just the opposite; when I sleep I can't eat bananas."

You sing a little song or two, and have a little chat.

You make a little candy fudge, and then you take your hat.

You hold her hand and say "Good night" as sweetly as you can.

Isn't that a heck of an evening for a great big healthy man!

Roland Letellier recently entered the Webber hospital for treatment to an eye infection. We are very glad to see him back on the job once more.

Johnny is driving his Ford back and forth to the beach. The motor is so silent one would never know there was one in the car.

Willie St. Ours is now employed on the Boston & Maine railroad during the summer months.

Orren to George: Did you get a hair-cut?

No, I just had my ears moved down an inch.

Billy Oakes' many friends claim that he has shellacked his face. Not a smile in a month.

Joseph Lee, son of John, of the Opening room, has entered the employ of Groce's restaurant at Old Orchard Beach.

Chester Johnson of this department was a recent visitor at Hampton Beach.

George: "Do you pet?"

Mary: "Sure, animals."

George: "Go ahead, I'll be the goat."

We have nothing for Joe Withworth this month. He was very quiet over the holidays.

This is pretty Rita Simard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Simard (yes, we mean the old reliable baseballer "Busy"), who works in the dress room. Rita is what you would call "My sweeter than sweet."

girls have got one.

Friends of Mrs. Hamel, former 18-5 employee, congratulate her on the birth of a baby girl.

DRESSING 17-2

Ask Morin, our second-hand, about the time he went deep sea fishing and got so sick he wanted to jump overboard.

All employees of this department are congratulating Mr. Keene, who recently became the proud father of a baby girl. Clarence says that he bought out two cigar stores and was about to purchase a third when the demand petered out sufficiently to call a halt.

WEAVING 53-B, 73, AND 83A

By ALDEC BELANGER.

A very devoted mother sent her only son to Europe to study music. Upon his return the mother invited a famous musician to hear the son give a recital. When it was over she turned to the great honored and asked, "How do you like his execution?"

"Ah, that would be fine!" he replied, which reminds us of a lot of our gifted (?) musicians who overload a saxophone and scrape a fiddle!

Al. B. has a new way of building a garage. He put his Ford in the desired location and built a garage around it. But when he had finished he found that he had forgotten to leave room enough in which to get the car out!

For Sale: One black and white cat cheap, —only $19.98. A very fine bargain but has a heavy appetite. See Peanut P. for particulars.

George D.: "Pardon me for walking on your feet!"

Pat: "Oh, that's perfectly all right. I walk on them myself!"

Mrs. Anna Mack and Mrs. Mildred Holt spent the holidays in Lowell.
A Roberge, Raymond Courtois, Mrs. Drapeau and sons all spent their vacations in Canada.

Austin and Clyde have both returned to work after being out for a time. We are glad that they have recovered.

If you don't want your picture taken keep away from this department during the noon hour. Austin Stevens had a hard time getting in.

If you wish to know of a good place to swim just ask Leona and Ruth. Also ask them what is the best time to go!

Ask E. Ruck how his blistered thumb is getting along! Next time don't hold onto the broom so hard!

We know that Alice C. likes them dark and tall. Is that your reason for studying French, and does this mean that it is the end of your Happy days?

Pete doesn't know what he would do without Esther. She just won't let his collar wrinkle up!

Have you noticed that Ruth S. is wearing her boy friend's watch? This one is named Albert. Do you know him?

If you want to get a good sun tan, take up golfing. That's how Kay S. got hers.

Keep all those hugs for Chester, Juliette. They don't mean a thing to Lillian. Letitia is still John's little flapper.

Leslie Hammond and Lloyd Hill, Thornton students, have entered this department during the summer months.

We hope A. Ruck will find it so pleasant here that he'll decide to stay. We certainly are glad to welcome you, Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Lewis have returned from a motor trip thru the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bolduc have returned from their honeymoon and have taken an apartment in the Pelletier block on Alfred street. Mrs. Bolduc was Miss Irene Alarie and works in this department.

Rose Beauchesne and Ivy Thomas are on a month's vacation. Rose has gone to Canada and Ivy is visiting her father in Charlotte, S. C.

Freda and Annette Carrier spent their vacation in Lawrence, making the trip in Manuel Williams' car.

Imelda Methot and Mabel Landry are back with us after a few weeks' vacation.

Helen I. has been called to New York by the serious illness of a cousin.

How grateful we are to Maud for sharing her garden with us; the roses that she brings daily help to brighten up our already immaculate department!

SUMMER VISITORS AT MILL

PEPPERELL BOYS ARE GOING LIKE HOUSE ON FIRE

The Pepperell baseball team in the Manufacturers league is leading the other teams in the league standing. There are four teams, Red Men, Saco-Lowell and Johnny Walker's Old Orchard outfit.

There have been some mighty interesting games so far and it is a down-right shame that the fans of the two cities do not take more interest in the league. The boys who make up the teams are deserving of better patronage. They give much of their time practicing for the games and incidentally it means a lot of hard work. Baseball is not all play by a long shot. For that reason the fans should turn out and drop a few quarters at the ticket office in exchange for admissions to the games.

The Pepperell team is made up of a smart aggregation of local ball tossers and it takes more than a champion team to beat them. In Jim Lombard and Ted Shevenell they have two classy twirlers. Both boys have showed their stuff in pitching all games to date for Pepperell.

Some have suggested twilight league games but others say that if the games can't be made to pay on Saturday afternoons the fans will not turn out evenings.

Come on men and boys, turn out and help boost the Manufacturers League games. Encourage the players to keep up the games and do your part and a little more in helping make the game pay.

The makeup of the Pepperell team is as follows:

Pepperell Beats Collegians.

The champion Pepperell baseball team went to Kennebunkport Friday afternoon, July 18, where they met the famous Kennebunkport Collegians and administered a 7 to 5 defeat to them. It was a very interesting and close battle. Pepperell, however, showed their superiority. Jim Lombard and Ted Shevenell took turns in the box for Pepperell.

PEPPERELL BOXERS MAKING GOOD IN BIG BOUTS.

Promoter Tommy Travers is getting demands almost daily for boxers from the Pepperell stable and the boys who are sent to exhibit their wares are doing so with a vengeance. On July 4th, Rocky Stone and "Busy" Baker took part in bouts at St. Stephens, N. B. Stone went a draw with Eddie Easett, while Baker won on a foul from Danny Lee after two rounds of fast boxing.

On July 7th Ted "Kid" Drew put on a whirlwind of a bout with Johnny Nems, welterweight champion of the Maritime Provinces, at St. John, N. B. It went ten rounds to a draw. Rocky Stone K. O'd Roy Wielock in five rounds. "Busy" Baker stayed two rounds with Danny Lee. Spud Murphy won a six-round decision over K. O. Knudson.

Drew Vs. Jones

There is great interest locally in the bout between Ted Kid Drew of the Pepperell stable of boxers, and Bobby Jones, billed for July 22 at the Exposition building, Portland. The bigger and better the boxers, pleases Ted to the limit. He does not want any setups.

Tommy Was Hard to Beat

John Burnham, the Five Points farmer, had as a recent guest Tommy Sullivan, a former Saco boy and in his day one of the leading welterweights in the fight game. Old-timers will remember Sullivan in his bout with Mike Joyce of Portland at the old skating rink on Storer street, Saco, now owned by Anton Hahn. This was one of the toughest ever in the two cities. There was no love between the two gladiators and when the bout finally finished they were each a sight to behold. Both were covered with blood. Tommy went to Lawrence, Mass., where he continued the boxing game and was a big success financially. He took care of his money and later put on a big fleet of Packard taxis and has been very successful. It was a treat to Tommy to be among his old-time friends in Biddeford and Saco once more. He was warmly congratulated by Mr. Burnham on his advancement in business. Tommy was at one time employed in the spinning room of the York mills, when the late Cash Tarbox was overseer.

Swimming Lessons Free

Michael J. Mogan, detective in the Pepperell mills, is devoting lots of his time evenings, instructing boys on how to swim, at Thachers creek, above the Eastern railroad bridge. Mr. Mogan has built a bridge in back of his home on upper Main street, across the creek, his garden being located near the creek bank, and on this bridge is held the big study of diving, fancy and otherwise. Students are also instructed in the idea of swimming and how to act in emergencies and save themselves from drowning. Detective Mogan is assisted in his great work by Patrick Murphy of the setting-up crew in the Pepperell from the Saco-Lowell Shops, who also drives home his points from the bridge.

A Good Selection.

The management of the Manufacturers league made no mistake in picking Pete Dubois as official scorer of all games in the league. Mr. Dubois, who is employed in room 64, Pepperell, made a big name for himself as quarterback on the East Ends and St. Andres football teams when they were winning from the best in the state. Pete certainly filled the shoes as quarterback in those days. Today he can go out and show 'em how to play the position.

Still Remembers Biddeford.

"Busy" Simard and Jimmy Hickey motored to Boston Saturday, July 13, where they were the guests of Freddy Maguire, the sensational second baseman of the Boston Braves and were royally entertained by the star. It will be remembered that Freddy Maguire was captain and a member of the Diamond Match team years ago while living at Old Orchard and was a member of the Match aggregation along with Del Bissonnette of the Brooklyn Nationals, when a big delegation of Sanford sports came to Biddeford and backed their Sanford team to beat the Diamond Match nine in a series of games at Prospect park. Woodbury Howe, the well known Portland sporting writer, was manager of the Match team and he certainly had a great aggregation of ball players. In fact it was so good that they beat Sanford to a standstill and made many Biddeford and Saco boys happy by winning big bets for them. Freddy has not forgotten those games in Biddeford and he was mighty well pleased to meet Messrs. Simard and Hickey and inquired for many acquaintances locally and hopes to meet them all once more. He sent his regards to Biddeford and Saco baseball fandom. Messrs. Hickey and Simard were guests of Maguire at the double header between the Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs at the Braves field and had the pleasure of seeing their old team mate help wonderfully in winning both games, 2 to 1 and 3 to 0. Freddy told the Biddeford ball players that if the Braves had better pitching they would be up in the first division, as the rest of the team was going good. "I am coming often to Boston to see you play, Freddy, and your team has yet to be defeated when I am at the game," said "Busy" Simard. "We want you to come often and help us get into the first division," said Freddy.

CLEANLINESS DISCOURAGES THE GERMS

By C. O. Sappington, M. D.
Director, Industrial Health Division
National Safety Council

Washing the "lunch hooks" before eating has been urged to prevent harmful germs being carried into the mouth on food, but there is also a stronger argument for washing up between meals. The cleaner the skin, the less danger there is of infection in case of injury. Whenever there is a wound there is as much danger of infection from germs on the skin as from germs on the instrument causing the wound.

Writing in The Cleanliness Journal, Dr. Lloyd Arnold points out that the normal skin, when clean, disinfects itself rapidly, and that accumulation of dirt on the skin retards this germ-killing action. Accumulations of dirt and oil provide a lodging place for bacteria which wait to be carried to the mouth or find a break in the skin to do their dirty work.

Certain experiments have shown the benefits of cleanliness. In one case bacteria cultures were applied to the hands before and again after washing at the end of a day's work. After ten minutes the dirty hands showed no reduction of bacteria; the hands which had been washed had lost 85 per cent.

After 20 minutes the dirty hands had lost only five per cent of the bacteria; the clean hands were entirely free.

After 30 minutes the dirty hands still retained 85 per cent of the germs.

Which hands would be better able to resist infection from a cut or bruise? Which hand would you rather shake? With which hand would you rather eat?

Just about right! More folks from 18-5, namely, Ted Moigner, Jenny Hubert, Mina Samson and our second hand, Pete Lariviere.

CHEMISTRY IN THE HOME

Easter bonnets take on new and brighter hues.

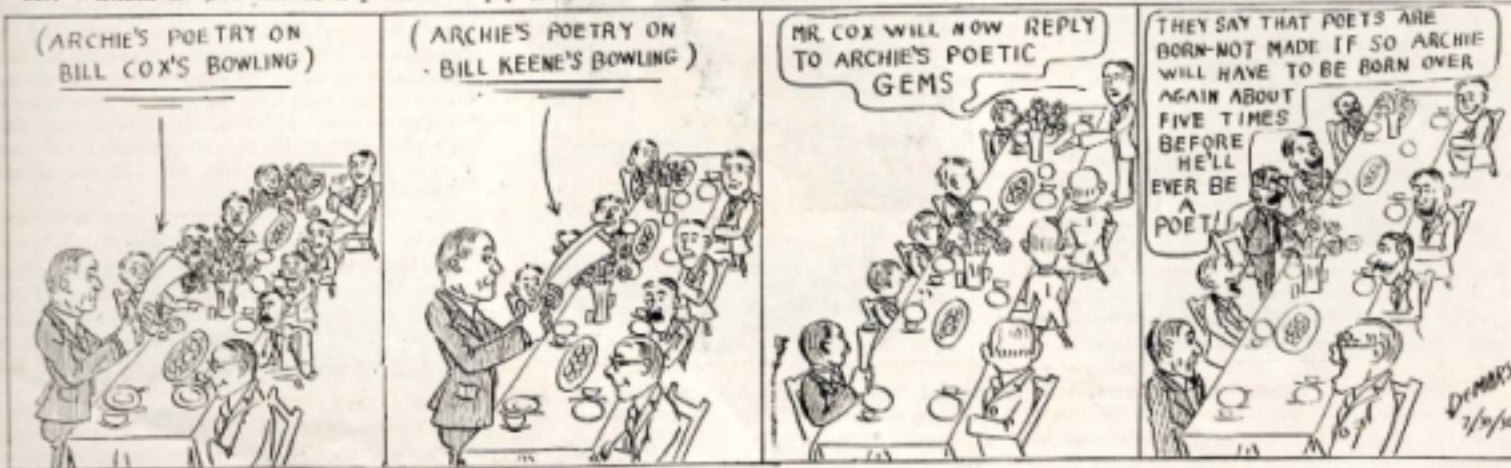

Any kind of dye found in nature can be made in the laboratory, whenever its composition is understood and usually it can be made cheaper and purer than it can be extracted from the plant. But to work out a profitable process for making it synthetically is sometimes a task requiring high skill, persistent labor and heavy expenditure. One of the most striking achievements of synthetic chemistry is the manufacture of indigo.

Indigo is one of the oldest and fastest of dyestuffs. To see that it is both ancient and lasting look at the unfaded blue cloths that enwrap an Egyptian mummy.

In 1897 nearly a million acres in India were growing the indigo plant with an annual crop value of over $20,000,000. In 1914 India produced less than $300,000 worth. What happened? The Badische Co. of Germany had worked out a practical process for making artificial indigo. This company spent over five million dollars and kept Dr. Von Baeyer and a corps of highly trained men seventeen years in chemical research before they could make indigo, but they gained a monopoly of the world's production. Fifty years ago indigo cost $4 a pound, in 1914 it was fifteen cents a pound. Even the pauper labor of India could not compete with the German chemists at this price. At the beginning of the present century Germany was paying India more than three million a year for indigo. Fourteen years later she was not only supplying her own increased demand but was exporting over twelve million dollars worth. Besides its cheapness, artificial indigo is preferable because it is of uniform quality and greater purity. Vegetable indigo contains from forty to eighty per cent impurities, among them other tinctorial substance. Artificial indigo is made purer and of any desired strength, so the dyers can depend on it.

The thought of this trip to the banks of the Rhine brings back once more the memory of twelve years ago and the time the chemist spent as a scientific soldier. He does not like to think of his experience in this field, for war in all its forms is hateful to him, and chemical warfare most of all, yet he recognizes its grim necessity and accepts it. During the World war the importance of the chemist was realized more than ever. Chemistry offered very effective weapons against the enemy. During the first part of the war, as during the twenty or more years preceding it, Germany realized the importance of chemistry. She saw that with practically little alteration a chemical factory could be changed into a terrible war machine, and that the chemist with his test tubes was far more powerful than a regiment of soldiers. Had either side fully realized and conceived at the beginning the effectiveness of the various gases used at the end of the war either the war would not have started or it would have been over in a few weeks. What will happen in the next war no one can predict, but it is sufficiently clear that the nation that can make the most effective use of chemistry will have the best chance of winning.

And so after a full day we find the chemist in the quiet solitude of his evening fireside. But the shadow of his work still follows him there. The story is not complete without showing the important part which chemistry has played in the development of the incandescent lamp. No stretch of the imagination could lead us to believe that this was an apt name for the feebly glowing lamp, with its pale yellow light, which Edison placed on the market in the form of the old carbon filament lamp. It was not until the metallurgical chemist worked his magic that the lamp became truly incandescent. Let us consider the cage which encloses this superlative glow. Pyrex glass of the chemist with its high mechanical strength has replaced the old soda lime glass, which was so fragile. In addition we now have the pyrex bulb frosted on the inside, which was possible only when the chemist had devised a means of properly handling the hydrofluoric acid solution which is used in the etching. The various colored bulbs which are on the market are possible because of the chemist's knowledge of the action of certain chemicals on the glass when in the molten state, imparting these many tints and colors.

The filament, which is the seat of the glow, is one of the wonders of modern science. It has an encyclopedic history from the mining of the ore to the final formation of the wire, one thousandth of an inch in diameter. In the days of the old carbon filament lamp, one of the greatest difficulties in the way of mass production was the lack of a good cement which holds the base of the lamp to the bulb. All sorts of glues, pastes and cements were tried, but none was perfect until the chemist developed bakelite, to safely and securely cement the bulb to the base. The brass base must be baked to the glass bulb at carefully regulated temperature. In most operation of this type, the temperature of the oven would be taken, but here a small amount of malechite green is mixed with the bakelite and this dye decomposes at exactly the proper temperature. The oven temperature at this time may be several degrees above the temperature of the lamps. I often wonder how many people ever connect the ideas of chemist and incandescence when taking advantage of this most wonderful invention, the cheapest form of energy, we can obtain, which turns night into day.

Chemistry in particular serves as a splendid illustration of what a science really is. Modern chemistry with its far-reaching generalizations and theories is a fine example of how far the human mind can go in explaining the unknown beyond the limits of the human senses.

For those who seek recreation in travel a little knowledge of chemistry will do much to brighten the way. Those beautiful colors of the Grand Canyon, that defy description; the sulphur deposits in the grottoes of Vesuvius; the everlasting fires of Baku; the trays of tea on the hillside of Japan; the salt basins along the coast of China—these all speak of chemical processes and have an increased interest for those who have a little knowledge of chemistry.

Chemistry is a growing science, and those who labor for its advancement press forward in ever increasing numbers, with confidence renewed by every new success. On the frontiers of all the principal fields of chemistry are important unsolved problems and newer ones are disclosed with each step in advance. To those who possess this pioneer spirit chemistry offers the most fascinating of all pursuits—the exploration of uncharted realms.

CONTEST NEWS

Biddeford chalks up another Gold Star and the Bleachery hangs up a red one. Last month's winner falls back quite heavily. Half the race is over and four out of six of the gold stars have gone to Biddeford while both Lewiston and Fall River have won one. Lewiston, however, has captured three red stars to Fall River's one. It has often been said in Massachusetts that "down in the sticks," in Maine, there is nothing known about safety and that no interest is taken in guarding machines or in preventing accidents by other means, but so far in this contest the results do not indicate this. In all fairness to Fall River, we must remember that the plant is new and that they haven't settled down to their steady pace yet. The fact that they came through with a goose egg last month indicates that they can do it and probably will take a winning spurt for the rest of the year.

KEEPING HIM GUESSING CAUSES ACCIDENTS

In war it is considered good strategy to keep the other fellow guessing. In traffic it is the worst possible blunder. Just watch some drivers in action. They can't make up their minds which side of the road is better for driving and weave from one side to the other. When they stick their hands out you can't tell whether they are going to turn or are just flicking the ashes from a cigarette. Also watch some people crossing the street. They step from the curb before looking both ways, then hesitate about what to do next. The driver slows down—if he doesn't, it may be just too bad—and the two of them do an Alphonse and Gaston act in the middle of the street. The hesitating pedestrian may finally decide to move on and perhaps he will get in the way of a motorist who has decided to pass the patient driver.

Planning the job carefully prevents many accidents in the factory. Planning what you are going to do before stepping from the curb will prevent many mishaps on the street. Dodging among cars is dangerous business, but if you are caught in traffic it is often better to stand still and give the approaching driver a chance to avoid you. It is harder to hit a moving target with a rifle, but it is easier to miss a stationary pedestrian with an automobile. If you keep the other fellow guessing he may guess wrong.

OUR OWN ACCIDENTS

A man in the card room at Biddeford instead of shifting a belt in the usual way, used a leather case which caught in the pulley and the man was thrown to the floor. This is the second case of a drive belt accident in Biddeford card rooms. The other one was fatal and this one might have been. It is unfortunate that there are no belt shippers and therefore the men doing this work must be extra careful not to take unnecessary chances.

Another man, an experienced doffer, stood in line with a spinning frame belt while the other doffer was starting the frame with a bobbin, because the contact area of the belt was too small. The belt slipped between the frame and pulley, broke and flapped up, hitting the man's eye.

There are a number of safety items that could have prevented this accident. The man who was hit should have known better than to stand where he did. The man holding the bobbin should have been more careful to put flat tension on the belt rather than push it sideways and also should have warned the other fellow not to stand where he did. It was also unfortunate that the diameter of the overhead pulley was so large in such a low posted room that the contact area of the belt on the frame pulley was not sufficient to start the frame without the assistance of the doffer with the bobbin.

The other accident occurring at Biddeford was a weaver getting her finger jammed between the shuttle box and the frame of the loom while taking off some loose filling. Most weavers know that there is very little room between the shuttle box and frame when the box comes forward, but sometimes they either think they are quick enough to remove filling between the strokes or else do not think about it at all and get caught.

At Lewiston, there were also three lost time accidents. One was caused by a man striking his shin against a truck and badly bruising his leg.

Another received a caustic burn in the eye. Both of these accidents could have been prevented by the exercise of a little more care. Goggles also might have been useful in the second instance.

The other case was of a man overcome by aniline dye fumes. He nearly died because of two reasons. He did not (and was not compelled) to report for First Aid promptly. After he was sent home he did not keep off his feet entirely and had a bad reaction.

Dcn't take any chances if you get a dose of aniline black or para red. Report to the first aid promptly and then do exactly as you are told.

There was another accident (?) which occurred at Lewiston, but the man lost no time. It should be mentioned, however, because of the lesson it teaches.

A second hand in a napping room climbed up on a motor platform with an air hose to clean down the ceiling while the power was on. He was hit by the clutch, but luckily was not injured badly.

When a man who is supposed to set an example to the others in a department does a stunt like this, how can the others be expected to work safely?

There were three lost time accidents at Fall River, but the nature of the injuries is not known at this writing.

A REAL SAFETY RECORD.

It can be done! Moise Belair, recently retired as a loom fixer for Mr. Sawyer, worked at his trade for 48 years faithfully and well, and practiced safety for each day of the 48 years. He never had a lost time accident! Mr. Belair resides at 87 Hill street, City.

PAPERING ROOM PATTERN

Have you ever noticed how much the Whip-poor-will's call sounds like a flat tire? Or how much a green pea vine looks like a bean? We'll confess we do not, but then our hearing and eyesight are not what they used to be.

Since when has it become fashionable for young men to take their lady friends riding on the elevators? We notice some of the Elite doing just that so we take it that is THE THING to do as one would never think of its being done for economy's sake.

Wish whoever has charge of such things would get little Al Baker a lighter weight punch as the one he has now has a tendency to make him lopsided and it certainly is a weight on his mind. (?)

We saw in last month's Sheet that Tom Crossley and Imelda are staged for a love scene for Romeo and Juliet, but personally we think Lydia and Donald could do it even better, that is, of course, from our own observations. There is always plenty of chance for an argument in the Papering Department, where they all disagree on principle, and this might be a subject for debate.

The girls (?) in this department from sixteen to twenty-one years old—and that includes all of us—have adopted this Slogan: "We girls must stick together."

A few of the girls from the Sheet Factory ask us to suggest that the Company either furnish a Settee or Pneumatic cushions as the window ledges are hard and the cement near the fence no softer—and one does like to rest while waiting for the back gate to be opened.

Arline Nadeau says "Marriage is a battle of wits and heaven have mercy on the guy who has not a gift of Gab."

Speaking of the much talked of "Gift of Gab" we learn from a quotation in the Lewiston Journal, that, "Gab is not a gift, it is a peril," and it struck us as having so much truth on the face of it that we are passing it along.

Sorry that so many of our co-workers take offence at our foolishness in the Sheet, as we can assure them that there is not a malicious rap in one of our items. We do not believe in anything so mean and underhanded as that would be.

We hear that Elina and Tessie are rehearsing daily for their part in the Frolic—in fact, they have even been seen on the corner—we suppose that was to get "atmosphere" for their act.

Did you ever notice how devout Henry Breen is? We hear him praying constantly. If he keeps on we will surely lose him for early piety is a sure sign of an early demise, as they tell us, "The good die young." Better watch out, Henry, as your friends will be "Saying it with Flowers." Learn a few cuss words for variety's sake, if nothing else.

We were all glad to see Mr. Jones recently in the Factory. It seems rather like old times to see his pleasant smile and listen to his "Blarney." What a gift he has of making everyone think that he is the one person that Mr. Jones was "dying" to see? We call it a gift, anyway.

Expect the girls in our room will have to be less critical as we notice most of the men going through the room act as self-conscious as a 1930 Debutante, or should we have said an 1890 Deb? The present Flapper is almost unconscious of herself (?) but not quite.

Wonder if you ever take a ride around the Lake after Sunset? If so and you hear a noise like some one sawing wood, don't be alarmed, it will be Medora snoring as she goes to bed with the hens. The simple life is trying, isn't it, Medora?

Florence Nelson blames Blanche Sawyer for everything that's printed in the Sheet. We don't knock why, as our name isn't Blanche Sawyer, and we've put her name in, in times past.

We heard her discussing canning today. She mentioned all kinds of fruits and vegetables but apples, but we are living in hopes as we like apple juice best. Wonder if she keeps her cellar locked?

Dora McGraw is as good as gold lately, she won't even get mad so we can tell about it. I think she must have been converted when she went to Canada.

We heard something about wilted collars in the Sheet Room, but if there were any we never saw them. Most of us do not believe in such things and those that do would not wear "wilted" ones."

We most forgot "Our Ida" and that would never do as she is so small her feelings are easily hurt. She is doing a Marathon in the eating line—she thought she wasn't getting calories enough to keep up her strength, so now she's eating "Milky Ways."

If Annette does not stop feeding Lucy Spaghetti a la Italienne, we'll have to get a wheel chair for her, she is getting so fat.

Lorette and Emily do not have much to say but we expect that is because Lennie and Imelda talk so much they can't get a chance.

Eleven

One of the girls was heard to ask two certain young men to send her a card when they went on their next vacation.

Wonder if the hot weather has melted our brain, or if a certain remark we heard is true? We overheard a certain party say we were not smart, that we only thought we were. Isn't it nice to know one's associates think so highly of one?

Elizabeth, we miss you very much. Hope you won't move very far away as we want to say "Hello," occasionally.

Alcide, what happened to the Reo? Why do you think you'd prefer an Essex or a Hudson. We think the stream lines of the old Father Reo are perfect.

We wonder why the company doesn't furnish Cosey Corners so Mabel can entertain her boy friends. It is embarrassing to have to entertain them where Blanche is peeking all the time.

We hear they are going to change the name of Lac Parent to Lac Toutain. It is just another case of "The King Is Dead, Long Live the King."

Listen in to Station B-L-E-A-T any day from 6.45 E. S. T. to 5.30 P. M., E. S. T., and hear Dominique sing his collection of old Come-all-ye's, or in other words, old, old favorites of 1492.

GLEANINGS FROM 'HITHER AND YON'

Angie Lee was seen recently riding in a spiffy runabout—we will say for her that she was well chaperoned.

Laura, what did you do on your camping trip? You certainly act like one with a guilty conscience.

Nellie Lawrence, we'd like to know who that young man is whom you find so entertaining every morning on the Lake Grove car.

Some one made the remark that Lena O'Brien would not be at the head of the line now, but that some one didn't take into consideration that Lena is a good football player.

Wonder what reducer Della used while in the big city. We've heard she lost fifteen pounds or more. She must have left her Tonic at home.

ONE OF OUR VETERANS.

Joseph Kernan, better known as "Hug-gy," has been an employee of the Bleachery for a good many years. He has a large circle of friends who will be glad to see this picture of him.

THE BLONDE TIGER

Here's Tom Cunliffe, of the Sheet Factory. His blonde beauty has caused many a feminine heart to flutter and we'll wager that a lot of these pictures will be clipped out to adorn milady's dressing table.

GUAY-CLOUTIER

On Monday, June 23, at Saint Peter and Paul church was solemnized the marriage of Leon Guay, son of Napoleon Guay, of this city, and Florence Cloutier, daughter of Mrs. Alice Cloutier. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Ferir and the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, John B. Simard, foreman of the White Folding Room. The bridegroom was attended by his father.

The bride was a member of the Children of Mary Sodality and that organization was represented by the Misses Blanche Tardiff and Rose Roy. The other attendants were Romeo Cloutier, brother of the bride, and Miss Diana Guerin.

Music during the nuptial mass was by G. G. Gibein, at the organ, and Joseph Gastonguay, cousin of the bride, violinist. Miss Gilberte Martin was soloist.

After the wedding a breakfast for 25 guests was served at the home of the bride's mother, where decorations were in pink and white with white wedding bells. The couple left immediately after the breakfast for Old Orchard Beach where the honeymoon was enjoyed. They are now at home at 155 Bartlett street.

Mrs. Guay has been employed in the White Folding Room for several years and her friends in this department tendered her several pre-nuptial showers and also presented her with a purse of gold. Employees throughout the plant offer congratulations to the young couple and best wishes for a long and happy married life.

Dick Joyce took part in the opening exercises of the new City League. He represented the K. of C.

Kid Renaud is another who is tired of hearing about the plug of tobacco that Fred Barbour lost. He says if he could afford it, he would buy him one.

Frank Shufeldt enjoyed his vacation at Sabatis. His cottage was situated in the heart of the society colony and Frank had but few idle moments.

Jimmy Galameau attended the last band concert on the City Park. He occupied a ringside seat and applauded the musicians after each number.

Pete Pelletier has returned from North Jay. Pete played baseball in this town at one time and likes to go back and renew old friendships.

Fred Barbour went to Old Orchard on the excursion last Sunday. Although the fare is only $1.50 some of the boys were unkind enough to say that Fred went on a child's ticket.

Charlie Sabalankas attended a dance on the Old Orchard Pier on July Fourth. Charlie surprised the spectators with a few samples of Polish and Lithuanian folk dances.

Francis King has returned from Lake Placid, bringing with him a silver medal emblematic of the Lake Placid sharpshooting championship which he won on July Fourth.

AROUND THE YARD.

Pete Sullivan has received a letter from Walter Soucy, a former employee, who was very popular here. The letter was mailed in Utah and Walter said he was on his way to Hollywood. It would not surprise us in the least to hear of him crashing into the movies. Readers will probably remember Walter's picture which appeared in the Sheet at one time. His resemblance in this picture, to the late Rudolph Valentino was remarked on by many. So don't be surprised, you movie fans, if the next great screen lover hails from Lewiston.

Dan Hagerty challenges any man of his age to a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match. We do not know Dan's exact age, but we believe he will be willing to meet any man between the age of 70 and 100.

Tim Driscoll helped to pry off the lid in the new City Baseball League. He was in charge of the Bleachery Cheering section and introduced many novel feats of acrobatic cheer leading.

Fred Chandler won the fat men's race at the Firemen's Muster held at Greene on July Fourth. Fred was running under the colors of Sub-Station No. 1 which is located on the Lisbon Road.

Lou Driscoll has been getting his voice in shape for a busy fall and winter season. He has been offered several engagements which he has tentatively accepted.

Pete Sullivan has been wearing a new yellow shirt which he claims is waterproof. Pete's work takes him out in all sorts of weather so he decided to protect himself from the frequent showers we have been getting.

Teddy Bonneau will spend Labor Day at Old Orchard. Much of his time will be taken up with roller skating, at which he is very proficient.

Alphe Garon has been watching Paul Junior train at his Lincoln Street Gym and he announces that Paul is sure to wade right through all of the leading lightweight of this coming winter.

Joe St. Denis has returned from Eastport and the scenes of his boyhood. Many happy days were spent by Joe and his boyhood chums fishing for sardines from the banks of the Eastport river.

WHITE FOLDING ROOM.

Patsy Kelliher has returned from Norridgewock where he spent his annual vacation amid the quaint old aboriginal tribes.

Phil Cloutier has turned down an offer to go into the movies. He was wanted to play the part of Stealthy Steve.

Cecile Belinsky visited Old Orchard on a recent Sunday. It is said that she and the boy friend enjoyed themselves immensely.

Arthur Laguex has signed up to play right field for George Thompson's South Lewiston Reds. Laguex is a star ball hawk and a clever base-runner.

Tom Meehan is getting to be quite a movie fan. He is seen quite often at the local theatres and he knows some of the actors by their first names.

Jennie Martin attended a shower recently. During the course of the evening she sang several solos which were greatly enjoyed.

Bill Carroll has been enjoying the municipal band concerts on the City Park. He especially likes to hear the Boys' Band whose sweet music he greatly enjoys.

Edwina Martin spent her vacation at Minot Corner in fishing, boating, bathing and other outdoor activities. She returned to town with a thick coat of tan.

Harry Windle, silver voiced orator, bird imitator and warbler of old-time melodies, will spend Labor Day at South Portland with relatives.

Gilberte Martin's beautiful contralto voice will probably be heard on the air next fall as a local company has approached her with an offer to broadcast for them. Gilberte was a member of the Lady Pepperell Entertainers and has appeared in many local amateur productions.

Old Lady (to druggist)—I want a bottle of canine pills.

Druggist—What's the matter with the dog?

Lady—I'll have you understand my husband is a perfect gentleman.

The druggist, in profound silence, put up some quinine pills.

MR. AND MRS. LEO GUAY.

Mrs. Guay is the former Florence Cloutier, employed in the White Folding Room and is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Cloutier of the Sheet Factory. An account of the wedding appears elsewhere in this issue.

THE CHAMPIONS

Bleachery Team Wins Industrial League Championship Without Losing a Game!

On June 12 at the Auburn Athletic Park, the Bleachery ball tossers applied a coat of white wash to the H. G. Lombard team. Lefty Turcotte held the shoeworkers to 3 bingles while our boys were collecting nine. Frankie Nugent and Joe Harkins with two hits apiece led the attack. One of Nugent's hits was for two bases.

BLEACHERY 10; B. PECK CO., 3.

The Bleachery team clouted out eleven hits for a total of nineteen bases on June 23 to defeat the B. Peck team by a score of 10 to 3. Joe Harkins connected for a home run, while Nugent and Clements gathered in a two ply knock. Lefty Turcotte held the merchants to 3 bingles and but for rather poor support would have gained a shutout. With three on and none out, in the fourth inning he fanned two and forced the third to ground out to the box.

honor without losing a game.

In this game Hennessey with a single, a double and a triple, led the attack. Lefty Turcotte pitched a good game and also connected for two doubles. Frankie Nugent got himself three bingles and played a sweet game at the initial sack.

The Bleachery team will now make a start in the new City League, where the competition will be keener and we are rooting for them to cop another cup.

Bleachery 7-Trojans 5.

The Bleachery warriors broke into the City League on July 17 by taking over the Trojans by a score of 7 to 5. The Trojans have a team made up of the cream of local players who were looked on as sure pennant winners; but our diamond artists out-hit them to win. John Finn connected for two singles and Nig. Leighton poled out a two-bagger. Clements struck out eight batters and allowed but four hits.

BLEACHERY REGULARS, 17;

BLEACHERY YANNIGANS, 4.

In the annual diamond battle between the Regulars and the Yannigans played on June 20 the Regulars had no difficulty in proving their superiority. The Yannigans could gather but three hits from Clements, in three innings and none from Turcotte in two innings. The Regulars collected 12 hits for a total of 22 bases which is good hitting in any man's league.

Dominic Beaudry will stage an act at the State Fair.

The nurses know LADY PEPPERELLS are good

TRUST nurses to know and appreciate good bed linen—they handle all sorts and descriptions in the training period, while a graduate nurse could almost qualify as a buyer of sheets.

Hospitals whose standards are high have selected Lady Pepperell Sheets and Pillow Cases from the time they were introduced. The firm, even weave, resistance to wear, and a finish that actually improves with laundering, give Lady Pepperells a reputation in high-class institutions of which the makers are pardonably proud.

They cost no more than sheets of comparable quality, and the 400 extra threads in the average sheet mean longer life.

Discriminating patients appreciate the care and foresight shown by the management of a hospital that selects Lady Pepperell Sheets for its bed linen supply. They strike the first and perhaps the strongest note in giving an impression of the high standard that prevails throughout such an institution.
